

Visitor Affirmation

Dear Visitor,

Welcome to VMware.

As you move around our facilities, you may see, hear or learn about matters which we consider to be confidential information. Our confidential information is important to us, so we ask for your cooperation by agreeing to treat the information acquired during your visit according to the restrictions below:

- You will not discuss, disclose or use VMware's confidential information except to conduct business with VMware.
- You understand that all confidential information will remain the property of VMware, Inc.
- You will not copy, photograph or record any information which may be made available during your visit unless permitted by your VMware host or an authorized VMware representative.
- You will not remove or take anything from VMware's facility that was not given to you by your VMware host or an authorized VMware representative.
- You are not restricted by the export control laws of the United States or the European Union to access, use or receive U.S. origin technology.
